

ABSTRACT

A genetic motif is extracted from at least one piece of input gene arrangement information, and, based on the extracted motif, gene arrangement information including, as a part thereof, the motif is retrieved from previously clarified gene arrangement information. The gene arrangement information as retrieved is added to the input gene arrangement information, to thereby improve a genetic motif extracting efficiency.